

ERRATA NOTICE

September 28, 2011

On page 4 of our September 23, 2011 brief on line 4 of the second paragraph, we state that it costs the Postal Service an annual average of “one hundred dollars per customer for curbside delivery.” This estimate is erroneous. The correct estimate is “two hundred twenty five dollars per customer for curbside delivery.” Please substitute the corrected language at page 4, second paragraph, line 4 of our brief, followed by a citation to “General Accounting Office Report No. GAO-09-696, Issued July 2009, at pages 7-8.”

Also, this sentence appears at page 4, second paragraph, lines 8-9 of our brief: “ So the likely drop in revenues compared to the USPS assumptions amounts to upwards of $200,000 which overwhelms the scant savings of $66,000 in their estimate.” The quoted sentence should now read “So the likely drop in revenues compared to the USPS assumptions amounts to $325,000, which overwhelms the scant savings of $66,000 in their estimate.” Please make this substitution at page 4, second paragraph, lines 8-9 of our brief.

Sincerely,

(SIGNED)

John Marcum

Bettye Marcum